Qualsec Silver

The Qualsec Silver award is the minimum standard which all electronic security, event security and guarding member companies must achieve. Qualsec silver provides clients of ISIA member companies with assurance that they will receive a professional, quality-driven security service. To achieve the Silver award, companies must comply with 37 criteria which are divided into five sections: licensing, staffing/human resources, financial/accounting, training and customer satisfaction.

Qualsec Gold

The Qualsec Gold award includes an additional 15 criteria which enhances the categories covered in the silver award and places further requirements on the member.

Qualsec Platinum

Platinum level requires an additional 5 criteria which includes certification to ISO 9001:2000 by an accredited certification body, Excellence through People and requires members to have a corporate social responsibility policy.
